MEMORANDUM FOR CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

FROM:

Joyce K. Conley, Assistant Director
Correctional Programs Division

Kathleen M. Kenney
Assistant Director/General Counsel

SUBJECT: Pre-Release Residential Re-Entry Center Placements
Following the Second Chance Act of 2007

The Second Chance Act of 2007 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), Pub. L. No. 110-199, was signed into law April 9, 2008. Among its many provisions, the Act changes the Federal Bureau of Prisons' (Bureau) statutory authorities for making pre-release Residential Re-Entry Center (RRC) placement decisions.¹ This memorandum provides staff guidance for implementing those changes. Guidance regarding other Bureau policies affected by the Act will be issued, as necessary, under separate cover.

If necessary, further assistance should be sought from your regional Correctional Programs, Community Corrections, and Regional Counsel or Consolidated Legal Center offices.

¹ For your convenience, copies of 18 U.S.C. §§ 3621 and 3624(c), as amended by the Act, are included with this memorandum as attachments. Additionally, for your convenience, these copies illustrate the previous text as ~~strikeout~~, and the new text as redline.

I. What are the statutory changes to RRC placement authorities?

As interpreted by the Office of General Counsel, the Act's statutory changes affect the Bureau's RRC placement procedures as follows:

- (A) Pre-Release RRC Placement Timeframe Increased to 12 Months - The pre-release RRC placement timeframe is increased to a maximum allowable 12 months. There is no percentage of "term to be served" limitation. See 18 U.S.C. § 3624(c)(1) (amended).²
- (B) Individualized Placement Decisions Required - The Act requires that pre-release RRC placement decisions be made on an individual basis in every inmate's case, according to new criteria in the Act, as well as the criteria in 18 U.S.C. § 3621(b). See 18 U.S.C. § 3624(c)(6) (amended). As a result, the Bureau's categorical timeframe limitations on pre-release community confinement, found at 28 C.F.R. §§ 570.20 and 570.21, are no longer applicable, and must no longer be followed.³
- (C) Court Recommendations Lack Binding Effect - The Act provides that a sentencing court order, recommendation, or request directing an inmate's placement in an RRC lacks binding effect. See 18 U.S.C. § 3621(b) (amended). As a result, the Bureau is not required to follow such a directive.⁴

II. What procedures should staff use in making pre-release RRC decisions?

With minor adjustments (explained in the next section), staff should make inmates' pre-release RRC placement decisions on an individual basis using current Bureau policy, Program Statement No. 7310.04, Community Corrections Center (CCC) Utilization and Transfer Procedure (12/16/1998) (hereinafter referred to as ² The pre-release home confinement timeframe remains at a maximum six months, or ten percent of the term of imprisonment of that prisoner, whichever is shorter. See 18 U.S.C. § 3624(c)(2) (amended).

³ The Act requires the Bureau to issue new federal regulations regarding pre-release RRC placements. The federal regulation process (rulemaking) will take several months to complete. Bureau staff will be informed as soon as new regulations take effect.

⁴ Sentencing court recommendations for a particular type institution, however, remain a factor to be considered when making pre-release RRC placement decisions. See, infra, Section III.(C)(4).

PS 7310.04). As indicated in Section I.(B) above, the Bureau's categorical timeframe limitations on pre-release community confinement, found at 28 C.F.R. §§ 570.20 and 570.21, are no longer applicable, and must no longer be followed. Similarly, any previous guidance memorandums that were issued regarding those regulations are no longer applicable, and must no longer be followed.

III. What procedural adjustments to current policy are required?

Staff must comply with PS 7310.04 in considering inmates for pre-release RRC placements, with the following adjustments:

- (A) Disregard Section 5, Statutory Authority - Because the Act amends the Bureau's statutory authorities related to pre-release RRC placements, the quoted passages in Section 5 of PS 7310.04 must be disregarded. Instead, if needed, refer to the amended versions included with this memorandum as attachments.

- (B) Review Inmates for Pre-Release RRC Placements 17-19 Months Before Projected Release Dates - Because the Act increases the maximum available pre-release RRC placement timeframe to 12 months, Bureau staff must review inmates for pre-release RRC placements earlier than provided in PS 7310.04. Specifically, inmates must now be reviewed for pre-release RRC placements 17-19 months before their projected release dates.

- (C) Criteria for Pre-Release RRC Placements - The Act requires that inmates be individually considered for pre-release RRC placements using the following five-factor criteria from 18 U.S.C. § 3621(b):
 - (1) The resources of the facility contemplated;
 - (2) The nature and circumstances of the offense;
 - (3) The history and characteristics of the prisoner;
 - (4) Any statement by the court that imposed the sentence:
 - (a) concerning the purposes for which the sentence to imprisonment was determined to be warranted; or
 - (b) recommending a type of penal or correctional facility as appropriate; and
 - (5) Any pertinent policy statement issued by the U.S. Sentencing Commission.⁵

⁵ As of this memorandum's date, the U.S. Sentencing Commission has not issued any policy statements related to the Bureau's pre-release RRC placement procedures.

Assessing inmates under the above criteria necessarily includes continuing to consider the more specific, and familiar, correctional management criteria found in PS 7310.04, including, but not limited to, the inmate's needs for services, public safety, and the necessity of the Bureau to manage its inmate population responsibly. In doing so, staff must not view any of the criteria listed in PS 7310.04, especially Sections 9 and 10, or any other policy, as automatically precluding an inmate's pre-release RRC placement. Rather, in accordance with the Act, each individual inmate's pre-release RRC decision must be analyzed and supported under the five-factor criteria.

Additionally, the Act requires staff to ensure that each pre-release RRC placement decision is "of sufficient duration to provide the greatest likelihood of successful reintegration into the community." See 18 U.S.C. § 3624(c)(6)(C) (amended). This means Bureau staff must approach every individual inmate's assessment with the understanding that he/she is now eligible for a maximum of 12 months pre-release RRC placement. Provisions in PS 7310.04 that reflect any other possible maximum timeframe must be ignored.

- (D) Regional Director Approval Required for Pre-Release RRC Placement Beyond Six Months - While the Act makes inmates eligible for a maximum of 12 months pre-release RRC placements, Bureau experience reflects inmates' pre-release RRC needs can usually be accommodated by a placement of six months or less. Should staff determine an inmate's pre-release RRC placement may require greater than six months, the Warden must obtain the Regional Director's written concurrence before submitting the placement to the Community Corrections Manager.

IV. Does the Act apply to inmates whose RRC decisions have already been made?

Yes. Inmates previously reviewed for pre-release RRC placements under any circumstances, and not yet transferred to an RRC, must be reconsidered utilizing the standards set forth in this guidance memorandum, whereby they are eligible for a maximum of 12 months placement. These reviews must be conducted by the classification team and documented on the Inmate Activity record (BP-A381.058).

Any inmate whose Program Review is scheduled at a time when consideration for a 12 month RRC placement is not feasible, will need to be reviewed and documented as indicated above.

§ 3621. Imprisonment of a convicted person (as amended by the Second Chance Act of 2007, Pub. L. No. 110-199, April 9, 2008).

(a) Commitment to custody of Bureau of Prisons.--A person who has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment pursuant to the provisions of subchapter D of chapter 227 shall be committed to the custody of the Bureau of Prisons until the expiration of the term imposed, or until earlier released for satisfactory behavior pursuant to the provisions of section 3624.

The Bureau shall make available appropriate substance abuse treatment for each prisoner the Bureau determines has a treatable condition of substance addiction or abuse. (c) Delivery of order of commitment.--When a prisoner, pursuant to a court order, is placed in the custody of a person in charge of a penal or correctional facility, a copy of the order shall be delivered to such person as evidence of this authority to hold the prisoner, and the original order, with the return endorsed thereon, shall be returned to the court that issued it.

(B) for not less than 75 percent of eligible prisoners by the end of fiscal year 1996, with priority for such treatment accorded based on an eligible prisoner's proximity to release date; and

(C) for all eligible prisoners by the end of fiscal year 1997 and thereafter, with priority for such treatment accorded based on an eligible prisoner's proximity to release date.

(A) Generally.--Any prisoner who, in the judgment of the Director of the Bureau of Prisons, has successfully completed a program of residential substance abuse treatment provided under paragraph (1) of this subsection, shall remain in the custody of the Bureau under such conditions as the Bureau deems appropriate. If the conditions of confinement are different from those the prisoner would have experienced absent the successful completion of the treatment, the Bureau shall periodically test the prisoner for substance abuse and discontinue such conditions on determining that substance abuse has recurred.

(B) Period of custody.--The period a prisoner convicted of a nonviolent offense remains in custody after successfully completing a treatment program may be reduced by the Bureau of Prisons, but such reduction may not be more than one year from the term the prisoner must otherwise serve.

(3) Report.--The Bureau of Prisons shall transmit to the Committees on the Judiciary of the Senate and the House of Representatives on January 1, 1995, and on January 1 of each year thereafter, a report. Such report shall contain--

(A) a detailed quantitative and qualitative description of each substance abuse treatment program, residential or not, operated by the Bureau;

(B) a full explanation of how eligibility for such programs is determined, with complete information on what proportion of prisoners with substance abuse problems are eligible; and subsection such sums as may be necessary for each of fiscal years 2007 through 2011.

(2) DEFINITION.--In this subsection, the term "community confinement" has the meaning given that term in the application notes under section 5F1.1 of the Federal Sentencing Guidelines Manual, as in effect on the date of the enactment of the Second Chance Act of 2007.
